Antenna and A/V Connections

Connect the Aerial Cable to the RF In Terminal

The Aerial Input (RF-IN) impedance of this television is 75Ω . If your aerial lead is 300Ω ribbon (two wires separated by a flat plastic sheet) you will require a $300\Omega/75\Omega$ Balun in order to connect your aerial to the television.

For your safety any external aerial should be installed by a reputable qualified installer and should comply with Australian Standard AS1417.1.

The television can be tuned to the VCR (follow the tuning procedure on page 7) but a better picture and sound quality can be achieved by connecting the VCR to the AUDIO INPUT and VIDEO INPUT terminals at the rear of the TV.

The Aerial cable must be connected for normal viewing.

Press the TV/AV selection button. Set the VCR to playback mode. To watch, or return to, the TV programme, press the TV/AV selection button again.

TC-29R20 and TC-29R21Z A/V (Audio / Video) Connections

TC-29A11Z A/V (Audio / Video) Connections

Connecting a signal to the right audio input socket will automatically switch the television to AV Stereo.

A Mono VCR should have the Audio out connected to the TV left Audio Input only.

Remote Control

Battery Replacement

Open the Rear Cover

A slight downward pressure on the battery cover will ensure easy removal.

Replace the Batteries

(Use "AA" size batteries only.)

Insert the batteries according to the corresponding "+" and "-" symbols on both the batteries and inside the Battery compartment. Replace the Rear Cover.

Do not use rechargeable (Ni-Cad) batteries.
Differences in shape and performance may fail to ensure the correct operation.
